

Merbein Community Plan 2022 – 2026

About Merbein

Merbein Past

Merbein is a town just north of Mildura, Victoria, in the Sunraysia region of Australia. It is on the Calder Highway between Mildura and the Murray River crossing at the Abbotsford Bridge to Curlwaa. Australian Bureau of Statistics census data show an increase in population from Merbein 2016 data of 1,981 to 2021 data of 4,976 there is an increase of population of 2,995.

Merbein is located 12 kilometres from Mildura, 553km from Melbourne and 389km from Adelaide. Merbein is the most northern Victorian town and celebrated 100 years as an irrigation settlement in 2009. The Merbein irrigation settlement, originally known as White Cliffs for its river cliffs, was established on a pastoral holding in 1909. It was one of the first state-owned pumped irrigation settlements in Victoria. A Rotary Club of Merbein sign states: "Irrigation commenced in 1910 originally for pasture and grain crops, but quickly assumed its present economy of vineyard and orchard culture."

E.J. Kenny was the first Officer in Charge of the State Rivers & Water Supply Commission of Victoria Irrigation Area established in 1909. The hot climate and the distance from markets saw the settlement quickly change from dairying to the growing of the less perishable crops of citrus and grapes for drying and spirit-making.

Soldier settlement blocks were established in Birdwoodton and Merbein West during and after WW1, and many streets were named after local soldiers who died in WW1. The district's horticulture and viticultural industries also attracted many European immigrants to the area.

Kenny, known as the 'Father of Merbein', died suddenly in 1925 and his contribution to the success of the settlement was acknowledged with the naming of Kenny Park. Today, Merbein continues to be an irrigation district, diversifying from the growing of dried grapes and citrus to a wide variety of wine and table grapes, asparagus, almonds, mushrooms and vegetables. As well as a wine bottling and packaging industry and a vegetable juicing facility, Merbein has also developed as a regional transport hub for the export of district products.

Merbein's Future & Vision

Through Council community consultation period in developing the new Merbein Community Plan residents in the Merbein area were asked What is your vision of the future of the Merbein below are comments from residents assisting in the moulding of this plan and future direction for Merbein.

- Merbein into a higher quality residential area for retirees and younger families, there are some great houses in Merbein
- A vibrant and connected community providing a full range of health, community, cultural, recreation, education services that are accessible for people of all ages, backgrounds and abilities. A lively and attractive main street precinct that not only provides for locals but also attracts visitors. Engaged and connected children and young people, who are supported through easily accessible recreation and social activities for youth and families that are local and available to all.
- Safe for my children to grow up, build friendships, engage in sports and other recreational activities. Footpaths to be able walk/ride to school. Good quality schooling, kindergarten and day-care programs maintained. To not feel like an afterthought from Council. More GPs and healthcare providers. Sense of community. A farmers' market comparable to Mildura/Red Cliffs, development of the riverfront
- To regain "vibrancy" while holding on to "small community" feel - encouragement for businesses to be viable with support from new and older community members
- Merbein is a lovely community in which to live. Of course, it is up to oneself to extend the hand of friendship or take a step to meet people. I would hope that the younger generation see the value in community committees and what they can contribute to the future of Merbein.

Purpose of Community Plans

A community plan is a public document which contains specific proposals for future vision and public improvements in local community these documents are developed through a partnership between Council elected Community Advisory group, residents, and Council Staff.

Local community plans provide a complete, long-range vision for communities, and address aspects of community development and provide recommendations which guide development over a long period of time.

Merbein's new Community Plan addresses issues within the community, but also envisions growth and future planning changes to accommodate Merbein's growing community. Merbein's new Community Plan outline the community's vision for the future and priorities for progress.

Why did we need to review the Community Plan?

- To continue the community's vision for the future
- Community needs are constantly changing
- To bring stakeholders and interested parties together
- To identify, plan and develop actions and priorities
- Ensuring we stay up-to-date with the needs and wants of the community.

What did the Merbein community say about living in Merbein?

- Friendly small town with everything you need
- Lifestyle - friendly people and feeling of welcome and inclusion, plus a strong sense of community
- The beautiful recreation park and its facilities.
- Accessibility to the most beautiful areas on the riverfront within the Merbein Common and other areas along the river for fishing, photography and bird watching

What the Merbein community find were the biggest challenges

- Footpaths & cycle ways
- More lighting
- Improve shops - new businesses
- Lack of Health Services
- Limited activities for young people in Merbein

Merbein Community Consultation

The new Merbein Community Plan has come together through a collaboration process with Mildura Rural City Council and Merbein Development Association. Our first initial discussion took place on the 1 February 2022 with the Merbein Development Association about the Community Plan review.

The message to promote the review, was then communicated through online short promotional films about actions that have been achieved through the last Merbein Community Plan 2014-2019, these short films were to inspire the Merbein community about the success from the previous plan.

Advertising for the consultation of the new community plan started in May 2022, information of various consultation sessions was provided through local newsletters, emails, word of mouth and group conversations. This gave residents in the Merbein area an opportunity to have input into the review process through different methods such as hard copy, online surveys, community meetings and various group meetings. The community consultation sessions took place throughout the month of May 2022, Council received 64 responses from various sporting groups, school children, Merbein residents, community groups and business owners in the Merbein area.

Feedback from these sessions saw themes and actions emerging. Council staff had further discussions with the Merbein Development Association, and the group felt that some of the actions from the previous Community Plan needed to be kept and continued in the new plan.

Community Feedback was then turned into themes ensuring all information received was logically collated. Proposed actions were then identified under the themes for the new Community Plan. These actions have now been reflected from ideas presented by community members.

The construction of Merbein Community Plan highlights a desire from the whole community to connect & focus on the aspirations and priorities for the community's future. Once the plan is completed, it will then be presented to Mildura Rural City Council, by the Merbein Development Association members, for endorsement.

The purpose of the Merbein Development Association is:

- To support other organisations in the Merbein community to develop and implement the initiatives identified in this Community Plan
- When required, form partnerships with other organisations to achieve community goals
- To promote the Community Plan within the Merbein community
- To provide a report to the community to inform them of continuing actions and projects
- Address issues of current and future concerns
- Strive to provide opportunities for all residents to be involved in the delivery of actions within the Merbein Community Plan
- Merbein Development Association will work with Mildura Rural City Council by acting as an Advisory and Liaison body between Council and the local community, individuals, clubs and organisations.
- Merbein Development Association work with Council provide valuable insight into the needs, circumstances and future direction of their community.

Achievements from the Merbein Community Plan 2014-2019:

All the below projects were identified through the Merbein Community Plan.

The refurbishment of the Sunraysia Community Building Merbein

Council's Community Futures unit, worked with the Merbein District Historical Society on applying for funds through Council's Community Plan support fund for the internal refurbishment of this project. The group also worked with Council Facility Services on the design layout and upgrade of the proposed new building.

The original concept design for the Sunraysia Community Health Building was identified as stage three part of the Merbein Community Hub, but at that stage Council did not have the capacity to carry out this future development.

Merbein District Historical Society now lease half of the Sunraysia Community Health Building; the other half of the building has been leased by the Merbein Art Group.

Merbein South Hall upgrade

This project has been developed in consultation between the Merbein South community and Mildura Rural City Council.

Residents in the Merbein South area identified they would like to use the Merbein South Hall as a public amenity for community events. The Project outcome to purchase the hall through Council Community Plan support fund, and upgrade facilities for property to be leased by Merbein South Community group.

Swimming Pool Blanket

Another successful project that came from the 2014-2019 Merbein Community Plan was to investigate and support improvements to sports grounds and facilities. This is where Merbein Swimming Club applied for funding through Council's Community Plan Support Fund to provide an upgrade of a new pool blankets & roller. The new blanket would benefit the Merbein Swimming Club and wider community, by retaining the water temperature in the public pool, making it more desirable for the community to use the facilities.

CWA Centenary book

The aim of the CWA Centenary book project was to record in a book, 77 years of history within the Merbein Branch of the Country Women's Association. The members of Merbein CWA members worked with Council staff in applying for funds through Council Community Plan Support Fund, they were successful in their application. The history book that they produce was a homage to recognise and honour past Merbein CWA Branch members. The focus of the project is to record and collate relevant information from interviews and discussions, historical records (such as minute books, photograph, and press clippings).

The published history was presented in a book format which was easy to read and appealed not only to the wider community but to historians and all those interested in Merbein's social history/ organisation and personalities.
